Here

We Found

Mr. Wendell Horton was a gifted and devoted administrator, constantly mindful of the intellectual and physical well-being of his student body. His loss is painful, for we cannot forget his untiring efforts channeled towards the best interests of every student. However, his pupils were not the only beneficiaries of his labors; the entire community is richer as a result of the many years he worked here as vice-principal and principal.

The Class of 1964 intends the Torch to be a tribute to Mr. Horton, in fond and respectful memory of his many contributions to Stoneham High School.

CURRICULUM

The course of study at Stoneham High is a flexible program which permits a large amount of concentration in many fields while ensuring the development of a well-rounded individual through a few carefully-chosen required courses. Advanced classes offer interesting opportunities in further study for those students who wish to take advantage of college-level work under well-qualified instructors.

Defining The Challenge...

To the Class of 1964: go out there and win! For success and good fortune in all your endeavors. You have successfully met the challenge of high school. Now you face the challenge of the future in a fast-changing, troubled world. We know you will display diligence and determination in meeting this test, and that your future actions will give your school and community just cause to be proud.

Mr. Chester Jordan, Principal

Mr. Chester Jordan, principal, and
Mr. William Hoyt, vice-principal.

ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Michael Scarpitto, superintendent of schools.

Mrs. Margaret Garvin, dean of girls

Mrs. Beulah Forbes, school nurse.

Helping Us To Meet It

Mrs. Claire McCarthy, guidance secretary; Mrs.
Alice Walsh, secretary to principal; and Mrs. Irene McLead, secretary.

Mr. Martin Martinian, director of guidance, and Mr. Wilbur
Halliday, guidance counselor.

Mr. Bernard Smith, chairman of the English Department.

ENGLISH

Effective expression of our thoughts has been the unrelenting goal of our English department. Under the guidance of capable instructors we have developed proficiency in verbal and written communication. Through the study of literature we have acquired a much deeper knowledge of the motivations behind human behavior. For their efforts in these directions, we are deeply indebted to our English teachers.

Seated, left to right: Mr. Barry, Mr. Bernard Smith, Miss Rosemary, Miss Malheiros, Miss Malheiros.
Standing: Mr. William Hunt, Mr. Paul, Mr. Robert, Mr. Robert, Mr. Robert.

Mrs. Malheiros discusses Shakespeare's Hamlet with English 41A.

Kenneth Flynn gets the class in the right mood as he explains the nature of comedy to English 41B.

SCIENCE

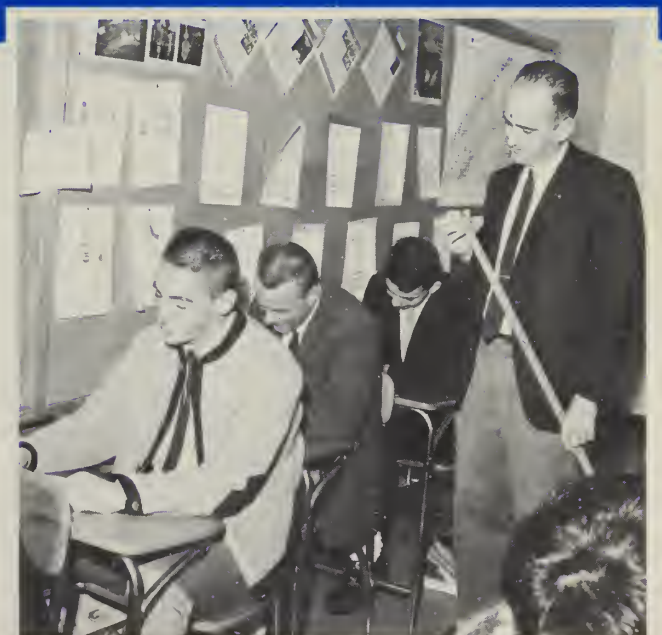

Our years here have seen the explosion of science at Stoneham High. Everything has increased: the number of courses, their quality, and, most important, the enthusiasm of the students. Advanced courses on the college level have been instituted, while existing classes have been overhauled to meet higher standards. Our warm thanks for this firm science background are richly deserved.

Left to Right, Mr. Robert Mooney, Mr. Stan Lauggee, Mr. C. Illing, Mr. Dorothy Parker, Mr. Louis DeSantis and Mrs. Patricia Cooke

Mr. Collins explains Boyle's Law to attentive physics students.

Mr. Maoney looks on as Physical Science A tries to solve a problem.

A Dedicated Faculty . . .

MATHEMATICS

In spite of the classroom loss, due to pramation, of its inimitable chairman during this, our final year, the mathematics department has continued to able bridge the gap between plane geometry and the calculus. Efficiently covering the entire field of high school mathematics in an understandable but challenging manner, the individual instructors will merit the respect and gratitude accorded them by us.

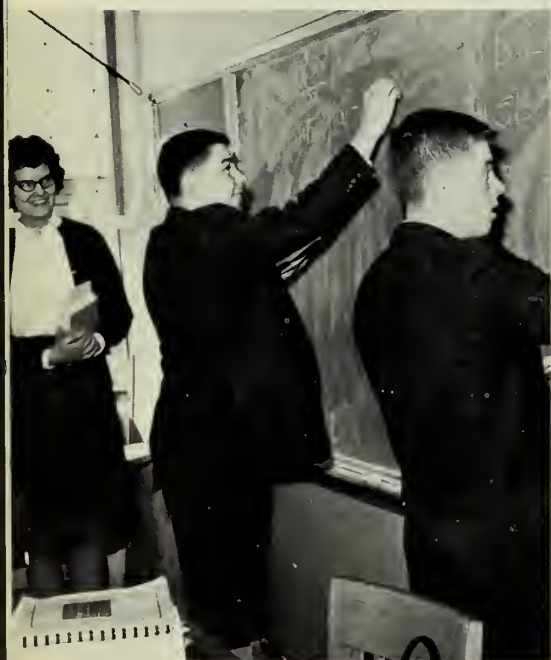

Mr. Chester Jordan, chairman of the department.

Bill Smith and Chris Shannon solve math problems on the board as Miss Steen checks their work.

John Dalton explains a problem to the Advanced Math class.

Mr. Roger Lamson, chairman of the Department.

Who Have Taught Us

HISTORY AND SOCIAL STUDIES

In this increasingly automated and computerized world, some societies resort to regimentation to achieve national goals. Our society, rejecting force, continues to emphasize individualism and diversity. This democratic system places greater responsibility on the citizen. He must possess historical perspective and an awareness of local, national, and international problems. For importing this knowledge to us, we are deeply grateful to the able teachers of our social studies department.

Russ Young, Linda Murray, and Jeff Manson show Problems of Democracy A students how North American aviation stock is doing. The class bought one share of that corporation's stock at the beginning of the school year.

Mrs. Rowe explains the procedure whereby a bill becomes a law to one of her social studies classes.

BUSINESS

The business department prepares students for careers in the business world by giving them an excellent background in such areas as typing, bookkeeping, transcription, business law, and office practice. All the latest business machines are found in the department. The quality of the training students receive is proved by the number of students who secure attractive positions after high school graduation. Many others go on to advanced training in business colleges.

MUSIC FACULTY

Mrs. Gilda Wipperman, chairman of the department, and Mr. Alfred Todaro.

ALL DISTRICT MUSIC GROUP

First row, left to right: L. Luscombe, M. Maxwell, N. Dole. Second Row: M. Brannen, W. Blauvelt, E. Vaughn, R. Lent.

MUSIC

Musically-inclined students of Stan-ham High School are very fortunate to be able to study under our very capable music faculty which includes Mrs. Wip-perman, Mr. Todaro, and Mr. Tapley. Even those who are not talented musically are encouraged to develop an appreciation of fine music through such public performance as the Carnival Ball and the Spring Concert.

LANGUAGES

The area of foreign languages has always been important at Stoneham High School. Aside from its practical aspect, the study of a foreign language enables us to learn more about the customs, art, literature, and cultural backgrounds of the inhabitants of different countries. Then we can better understand our neighbors in this ever-shrinking world.

Miss Lydia Risi,
chairman of the department.

Latin IV students absorb the lesson taught by Mrs. Christ.

Miss Risi converses with Wendy
Jenkins in French.

John Lynch reads to one of Mrs.
Brawn's French classes.

... Of Education

Seated, left to right: Miss Molly Blackall, Miss Lydia Risi.
Standing: Mrs. Jean Christ and Mrs. Marjorie Brown.

Several seniors skip rope as a part of the girls' physical education program.

Mr. Karl Elerin, supervisor of physical education.

And Prepared Us . . .

The members of one of Mr. Fawcett's gym classes are in a joyful mood as they watch an equally happy George Sterling perform on the high bar.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

A healthy mind in a healthy body is the belief of our capable physical education teachers. Gym class, under their supervision, is no snap. They seem intent to make real Spartans of us all. Though not exactly relaxing, gym class is fun. Some students are known to have become so fond of it that they report for makeup periodically.

Linda Luscombe admires a pastel by Jahn Dyke.

ART

Under the expert direction of Mrs. Baker, the art classes work to develop and express individual creativity. Throughout the year, art work brightens the display cases in the school. On various occasions water colors, pastels, cut paper, ceramics, and silver work have been exhibited.

Mrs. Eleanor Baker, supervisor of art.

LIBRARY

Miss Rudie Lindgren's display windows lure everyone into the library. Once in this attractive room, how can one resist browsing around? Then, before he realizes it, the student is checking out a book and embarking on his own reading-for-pleasure program.

Miss Rudie Lindgren, librarian.

of the library's facilities.

The Challenges Ahead

Ed Manuel does shop work under the supervision of Mr. Poolini.

HOME ECONOMICS

In home economics classes girls are offered an opportunity to learn the skills of home management and housekeeping. They learn how to cook a well-balanced meal and how to sew. The course also includes interior decorating and child care. Girls who take this course are well-prepared future homemakers.

Mrs. Inez Bernar

INDUSTRIAL ARTS

Courses in machine shop, sheet metal, woodworking, printing, and mechanical drawing are offered by our industrial arts department. The shops are equipped with up-to-date tools and machines. The industrial arts program offers attractive opportunities for interested boys who want to learn a trade.

Mr. Renato Paolini and Mr. Wolter Herrick of the industrial arts department.

Donna Fard, Jayce Meuse, and Janet Fatina use the sewing machine in a home economics class.

the challenge

SENIORS

For the past three years our lives have centered around the broad challenge of school in study, sports, social events, and personal adjustments. It was a period of stress, and yet there were many joyous occasions. Now we focus on the distant horizon to face the challenge of the future.

the challenge

ATHLETICS

Every student who participates in the sports program of Stoneham High School gets plenty of the challenge of competition. Our school may be handicapped athletically by the fact that we have the smallest enrollment in the league, but this year — as in all years — our teams were never outfought. The athletes representing our school practiced hard and played hard. They gave it all they had. They truly deserve to be called Spartans.

of competition

Ron Rambali, Co-captain.

Jim Mitchell, Co-captain.

Head Coach Halliday called the '64 football team one of the best he has ever coached. The team thrilled Spartan fans by outplaying vaunted powerhouse and Class B Champs Melrose before succumbing in the waning moments of the game. They also upset a heavily-favored Concord eleven 16-8 in an exciting contest. Individually, tackle Jim Mitchell and quarterback Ron Romboli, stand-outs all season, garnered all-league honors.

Sparking Spirit and Morale

CHEERLEADERS

Our vivacious cheerleaders were a colorful and welcome sight at all athletic contests. They led the pep squad in our cheering section until the rafters rang out for Stoneham. Their contagious enthusiasm and school spirit roused both players and spectators and contributed to many a Spartan victory.

Rhythm and Precision at Half-Time

MAJORETTES

Headed by their captain, Nancy Greenslade, this year's majorettes provided outstanding half-time entertainment during the football season. They added color to our rallies and enthusiasm to our parades. Their hard work and long hours of practice on new routines paid off. They are worthy of all the praise they received.

Coach William Murphy and Captain Brad Yancey

BASKETBALL

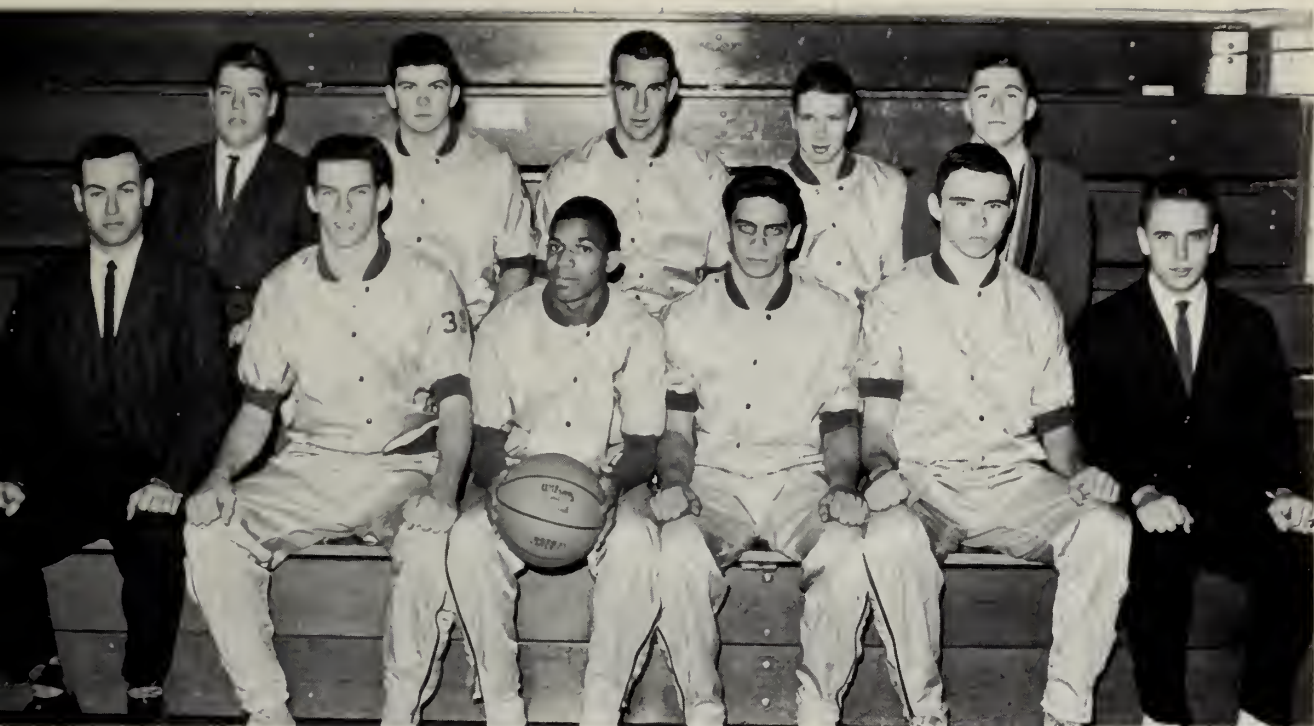

Despite the fact that there were few hold-over lettermen, the '64 Stoneham hoopsters, coached by Mr. William Murphy, thrilled Stoneham rooters with an exciting brand of basketball. Close games and come-from-behind victories featured the season. Carl Yancey was one of the league's top scorers besides being a fine rebounder. Two steady players were guards Brad Yancey and Ron Romboli. Joe Donahue and Jeff Manson were other senior performers. High-scoring Bill McInnes and forward Steve Freeland are two juniors who showed promise for next season's team.

Brad Yancey goes high as he pops a long jumper.

Newton Upset

This year's hackey team was one of the best in Staneham's history. Finishing fourth in the tough Middlesex League, the Spartans reached the semi-finals in the State Taurnameant. Coach Paul Carey's charges were led by Capt. John Summer, the team's tap scarer. The line af Frank Seabury, "Skip" Sampson, and Glen Erama made a fine shawing thraughtaut the season. The all-around hustle af Ken Flynn and Ted Pitcher was a great asset ta the team's success. Sophamare Greg Wright was a stalwart on defense while Ed Geragasian was a steady performer in gaal.

Team in Contention Throughout Season

Coach Jack Feltch's Spartan baseball team had a very successful 1964 season. The ace of the pitching staff proved to be Rickie Morrill, ably backed up by Pete Savelo and Ron Romboli. Hard-hitting Russ Young performed the catching chores while flashy Brad Yancy played first. The team had an exceptionally able keystone combination in Ken Flynn and George Sterling. Slugging Paul Salerno and hustling Dan McClarey helped patrol the outfield. All are agreed that the '64 Spartan nine was an excellent all-around ball club.

Track and Cross Country

The Sporton cross-country team brought home the Middlesex League Championship by winning every meet. Our runners literally ran away with the league meet by sweeping four of the first ten places. The star of Cooch William Murphy's harriers was Captain Kenny Greenleaf, who never lost in league competition. Other top runners were Pete Venzo, and sophomores Mike Kelly and Dick Hovey.

Cooches Holliday and Dye had a large turnout for spring track. A relatively new addition to the Sporton sports program, the team had its best season in 1964. Their strength proved to be in the running events with Ken Greenleaf and Carl Yancey two of the top men.

Golfers Sparked By Lettermen

Stoneham High's golf teams have usually been very successful. Last year was a rebuilding year, however, as most of the regular players were sophomores. These boys, who showed a great deal of promise, will all be back this year, and Coach Fred Kiamie anticipates a much better season.

Coach Fred Kiamie and his co-captains, Barry Naarigian and Pat Schmidt, seem pleased as they look over '64 schedule.

Tennis Teams Show Continued Improvement

The improving tennis team, coached by Mr. Robert Mooney, enjoyed one of its best seasons. Captain John Dalton was the team's best singles man while Mal Brannen was top doubles player. The interest in tennis reached a new high as the team displayed ability and sportsmanship at home and away.

The girls' tennis team, led by Captain Nancy Forbes, had a good season, living up to the high standards set by former teams. It was coached by Mrs. Sylvia Rowe.

ACTIVITIES

The many extra-curricular activities in the senior year demand a great deal of the students' spare time and energy. Typically "senior" events like the Senior Play, the Carnival Ball, and, of course, the Torch itself draw upon an abundance of enthusiastic participants, and the many other clubs and social functions combine to make our last year one of constant activity.

1964

THE 1964 TORCH

One of this year's greater challenges has been the production of the yearbook itself. Throughout the year our staffs have exhibited the ability to work well together which has resulted in this final product: an image of our unforgettable years here. To us, it has been more than worth the effort.

GLEE CLUB

Twice a week during activity periods this talented group meets under the capable direction of Mrs. Wipperman. They put forth a great deal of time and effort in order to make their performances at the Carnival Ball and Spring Concert beautiful and entertaining. We are all greatly indebted to them for adding such lovely music to our school activities.

BAND AND ORCHESTRA

During the football season the marching band aroused enthusiasm both on the field and at the numerous pre-game rallies. At the Carnival Ball was heard the melodic music of the dance band. In April the concert band and the orchestra played at the wonderful Spring Concert. The orchestra also played at graduation. Our musicians made an invaluable contribution to the school throughout the year.

. . . In Exciting Performance

At Lexington High School on March 21, 1964, Staneham High School was represented in the preliminaries of the Massachusetts High School Drama Festival with the one-act drama "Heritage of Wimpale Street." The play, which takes place in London during the mid-nineteenth century, deals with the visit of the son of Elizabeth Barrett and Robert Browning to his maternal grandfather. The result was a moving production highlighted by poignant characterizations by Staneham's young Thespians.

The Interact Club is a recently formed organization sponsored by the Staneham Rotary Club. It is part of a world fellowship which provides opportunities for young men to serve their school and community and to participate in projects intended to promote international understanding. Mr. Roger Lamson is advisor of this new activity.

Girls' and Boys' State Representatives

Each year one girl and four boys are chosen to attend Massachusetts Girls' and Boys' State. They are generously sponsored by the Stoneham American Legion which makes possible this well-planned program. Throughout a week in June, our representatives learned about the intricacies of town and state government. The program also included various athletic and social events.

By holding doors open and supervising passing between classes the traffic squad performs an important service for the school.

Members of the traffic squad serve the school by assisting teachers in supervising corridor traffic during passing intervals. They also aid in seating students in orderly fashion at assemblies. The squad is under the direction of Mr. Fred Kiamie.

Student Government Representative

J e a n n e B a r n h o l t z was elected Student Government Representative

In order to promote better understanding of the government of Massachusetts, the Department of Education sponsors Student Government Day. Every high school sends a representative who goes to the State House and takes an active part in running the Commonwealth for one day. This year, the Stoneham High School student body elected Jeanne Barnholtz as its representative.

Student Exchange Day

On March 9, students from Brockton High School visited Stoneham. During the day, they toured the school and visited various classes. In the evening, they attended Town Meeting. A week later, our students visited Brockton High and attended a city council meeting. The exchange day program enables students to observe the operations of both town and city governments.

The Future Secretaries of America, under the guidance of Miss Dorothy Corum and Miss Maria Garuti, is comprised of girls who intend to go into the business world after graduation or who intend to continue their education in business schools.

During the year visits were made to several companies and talks were given at the school by representatives of other companies. Many girls who are now enjoying successful business careers have profited from this organization.

ADVISORS—Miss Garuti and Miss Corum.

The officers and advisors go over the agenda of the next meeting.

PEP SQUAD

The senior girls in the Pep Squad were an enthusiastic group.

Each class has its own Pep Squad with its own elected officers. Each squad supports itself by various imaginative fund-raising projects throughout the year. The three groups unite, however, in their wholehearted support of the Stoneham High athletic teams. They are identified by their attractive navy blue blazers and their enthusiastic cheering at all our games.

DANCE CLUB

Under the supervision and guidance of an expert dancer, Miss Rosemary Tipping, the Dance Club has attracted many interested students. Besides learning the basic fundamentals of the dance, the girls learn various tap routines. Members of the club have performed with distinction at many school affairs including the Carnival Ball.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

A most helpful activity for those planning a career in teaching is the Future Teachers of America. Under the supervision of Mr. Bernard Smith, students have enjoyed many interesting discussions of the problems of teachers, the guest speakers, and the opportunity to observe a day in the life of a teacher.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club continued for its second year with an extension to mathematics. Stimulating lectures on areas complementary to the general course of study highlighted the meetings, while individual projects gave members a chance to develop their own scientific interests.

JUNIOR PROM

The chaperanes appear to be having a good time as they greet students in the reception line.

Bill Janes, Diane Knudsen, Dick Byrne, and Gail Roberts are welcomed by a charming friend.

It didn't take Kenny Flynn long to find the refreshments.

Dave McClay, Linda Hobbs, Dave Cerretani and Jackie Thibeault seem to be having a good time.

"Fantasia . . ."

The Junior Prom was held on a lovely evening in May, 1963. That night the high school cafeteria was transformed into a world of fantasy. Everyone was impressed by the detailed decorations, dreamy music, and delicious refreshments. Those who planned the Junior Prom are to be thanked for providing an enchanting evening for all who attended.

The prom will long be remembered by these couples who probably could have "danced all night."

YEARBOOK RECORD HOP

These couples seem to be having a good time as they display their dancing ability.

Linda Eramo, Eileen Camuso, and Barbara Anderson select records for the dance.

Choosing their spot for the spot dance, these couples hope to win a prize.

Another Wonderful Memory

Among the more enjoyable events of the year was the Yearbook Record Hop. Proceeds of this annual affair were used to help defray the printing cost of the Torch. The music and pleasant atmosphere made the evening a complete success socially as well as financially. Those who attended are certain to have pleasant memories of this dance.

Good attendance made the Yearbook Record Hop a success.

advertisements

The advertising staff had the always-challenging task of raising money to defray the printing costs of the yearbook. Under the capable supervision of Business Manager Lynda Innes and her assistants, Linda Cuthbert and Carolyn Scarpitto, the entire staff worked diligently. We are grateful to all of them and to our advertisers for helping to make the 1964 TORCH possible.
